- Motivated self-learner seeking an internship position to support the frontend development of Cinema Calc software. Passionate about design and user experience, eager to gain practical experience in frontend development and contribute to a SaaS startup. Currently expanding skills in React to further enhance capabilities.

SKILLS

- Familiarity with HTML, CSS, and JavaScript
- Good understanding of web development principles and best practices
- Familiarity with frontend frameworks like React
- Passion for delivering exceptional user experiences
- Self-motivated and able to work independently
- Excellent communication and collaboration skills

PROJECTS

- I have successfully completed a series of small-scale coding projects aimed at honing my programming skills. These projects encompassed a diverse range of tasks, allowing me to acquire hands-on experience and reinforce my knowledge in various programming languages and methodologies. Through this dedicated practice, I have cultivated a deeper understanding of coding principles. The projects I have completed consist in "Rock, Paper, Scissors", "To-Do-List", "Drag and Drop", "Music website", "Weather App".

EXPERIENCE

- While I may lack formal work experience, I have dedicated myself to undertaking a series of personal coding projects with the primary objective of improving my programming skills. Through these projects, I have gained valuable hands-on experience and deepened my understanding of coding principles. These initiatives have served as a platform for continuous learning and have allowed me to demonstrate my passion and commitment to the field of coding.
